CHEMISTRY AT WORK

A Chemistry and its Applications Exploration Day
for KS4 Students
Monday 16th and Tuesday 17th July 2018

NYBEP Ltd working in partnership with the Royal Society of Chemistry and Chemistry Outreach Department at the University of York

NYBEP invites you to bring Key Stage 4 students to the above event, which will be held from 10am to 2.30pm, at The Chemistry Department, University of York YO10 5D.

The event comprises a series of practical, hands-on, chemistry-based workshops, provided by companies whose main work involves chemistry. Students will attend five x35 minute workshops over the course of the day.

The aims of the day are:

- To present some of the principles of chemistry as they are applied in industry, research and everyday life.
- To improve the perception students have of chemistry and to show that it is an interesting and stimulating subject.
- To present chemistry as a rewarding career which may be set in a variety of contexts.

The event will be held in the Chemistry Department at the University of York, so it is an excellent opportunity to see the laboratories at the University and, if the weather is good, other parts of the University as well.
